

Family Law Lawyers Cambridge

Family Law Lawyers Cambridge - For those people have just separated, our firm specializes in the dealing with the complex financial issues which could happen. Other family issues that our lawyers could help advise with comprise property division, divorce, adoption, access, child and adult guardianship, estate and trust issues as well as child and spousal support. We also could help create asset protection agreement, marriage agreements, separation agreements and co-habitation agreements.

We tailor our services to reflect our client's individual needs. Our lawyers have sufficient experience both in and out of the court room to make certain that our clients could be represented efficiently and fairly. On top of negotiation, litigation and mediation, our firm likewise provides collaborative law approach. This is a relatively new method which allows family lawyers and various professionals, like financial advisors, to come to a settlement without going to court.
