Some of the topics we advise our film and television industry clients are about topics concerning co-production partners and distribution, negotiations with broadcasters, banking transactions, tax credits and government funding, union and guild concerns, and any other financing or production problems they may come across.

For the on-location productions, we provide services and advice regarding withholding tax and film tax credits, investment rules and regulatory requirements, as well as potential problems regarding unions and guilds within the United States and Canada.

Television, the new media and film industries are the main focal point of our Group.
