

Cambridge Employment Lawyer

Cambridge Employment Lawyer - Our Labour & Employment Law group advises and represents clients in both the public and private sectors before administrative tribunals as well as in issues of labour litigation before all levels of the courts. We participate in the drafting of employment agreements, and help clients in drafting of collective agreements and negotiation.

Our lawyers are experts in employment regulations and law with reference to employment benefits and rights, sexual harassment, wrongful dismissal, human rights, accommodation of disabilities and health and safety standards. Our group members assist clients all through the labour dispute resolution procedure, partaking in arbitration, mediation, conciliation and negotiation.
