

Real Estate Law Cambridge

Real Estate Law Cambridge - Before embarking on a real estate project, it is vital that you think about all factors since there are numerous provincial jurisdictions and areas of law that have to be covered so as to reach your final objectives. Knowledgeable legal counsel, with strong connections in the industry, is vital to creating an outcome with a minimum of complications.

In order to make sure that all of our clients needs are met, our firm has specialized sub-groups in property development, leasing, financing, condominium development and sales, in addition to acquisitions and dispositions. Our aim is to provide recommendation which would enable our clients visions to prosper. Amongst the services we provide are assistance in acquiring an extensive real estate portfolio, solving environmental problems, and creating assembly deals for a large pension fund.

We have various clients in both the private and public sector. They represent all parts of real estate, from entrepreneurs, tenants and owners to developers, purchasers, sellers, and investors. Our company will be pleased to represent you in any part of real estate law.
