

Civil Litigation Lawyers Cambridge

Civil Litigation Lawyers Cambridge - Areas such as mergers and acquisitions, competitor agreements, abuse of dominant position, refusal to deal, price maintenance, tied selling, and several anti-competitive trade practices are all provided for within the Competition Act. Also, practices such as deceptive marketing practices, bid rigging and conspiracies are forbidden.

Our firm has extensive experience about commercial clients as well as inquires by the Commissioner of Competition under the Act. This comprises appearing before both the Competition Tribunal and the Federal Court. We negotiate projected mergers and acquisitions along with the Competition Bureau on behalf of our clients and have also participated in several lawsuits about anti-competitive practice allegations. Our firm has the skill and expertise necessary to ensure our clients have up-to-date details regarding compliance problems.