

Criminal Law Firms Cambridge

Criminal Law Firms Cambridge - It is vital to our clients that their intellectual property, and their rights behind it, remain enforced and protected always. Our office ensures that the misuse or misappropriation of intellectual property that belongs to our clients is dealt with quickly and efficiently. We offer counsel in situations dealing with the leak of trade secrets, confidential information, registered designs, copyright, patents, and trademarks. As well, we also handle the anti-piracy problems, personality rights, defamation and commercial disputes utilizing litigation.

In issues about patents, our lawyers are especially well-versed in the telecommunication, mechanical and pharmaceutical sectors. Whatever copyright violations resulting from the net, like disputes regarding music, software, television and artwork rights, are dealt with fast in order to avoid further exploitation. Competition and trademark issues are usually handled utilizing litigation.

Using our skills of our well-seasoned litigation lawyers along with our company's expertise regarding intellectual property makes for a formidable combination. Our clients could rely on us to act for them at all levels of the international tribunals as well as Canadian courts.

With our many skilled litigators; we have also various trademark and patent agents, who work along with property litigators. We even have some knowledge in technology transactions. This makes certain we have an extra set of skills that is advantageous should a case get settled before going to trial. The support that we offer our clients is creative, time-efficient, and above all, effective.

Litigation is often not the only means to attain our clients' objectives. If there is an optional method which is more efficient and cost effective then we choose that road. The main goal is to achieve our clients' objectives as quickly and painlessly as possible.
