

Aboriginal Legal Services Cambridge

Aboriginal Legal Services Cambridge - Tort law cases handle civil wrongs. Like for example, if you have suffered an injury or undue harm as a result of intentional wrongdoing or negligence by a different individual, you can be eligible for damage compensation in a tort law case.

The most common kinds of tort law cases comprise: negligence causing car accidents and medical malpractice and personal injury. Our firm's lawyers will assist you determine what charges should be laid against the accountable parties. Even parties not directly involved with an action which caused you harm can be held responsible for damages. Like for example, the delivery truck driver might be held responsible for harming you in an accident, but so may the employer which hired the driver. Multiple parties can, in particular circumstances, be charged with negligence for the harm that you suffer.

Our tort lawyers are skilled at trying tort law cases. If you have been badly affected by a civil wrong, phone us for an assessment of your case. We will assist you to know your legal alternatives and guide you through all aspects of the tort law case.