

Patent Lawyers Cambridge

Patent Lawyers Cambridge - Our company's Intellectual Property team is known for innovation and excellence in the different services relating to enforcement, acquisition and commercialization of intellectual property assets.

In our team; we have more than ninety experts, with knowledge in three main services: Litigation, Business and Prosecution. Our legal practice focused on intellectual property rights is among the very best within the country. Our intellectual property team has knowledge in the fields of trade-marks, patents, designs, trade secrets and copyrights. Our litigators are amongst the very best in the world.

Our teams expertise extends into the areas of due diligence, portfolio analysis, audits and other connected services that are part of financing and corporate transactions. We are professionals in the assessment of technology for intellectual property protection, including strategies for portfolio development involving procurement of rights, commercialization and licensing techniques, and defensive and offensive litigation.

Also in our practice, with our intellectual property lawyers, we have technical consultants and patent and trade-mark agents. Our experts have strong backgrounds in the engineering and scientific sectors. In science the team has knowledge in biotechnology, biomechanics, biochemistry, food science, chemistry, endocrinology, genetics, immunology, life sciences, microbiology, molecular/cellular biology, pharmacology, neuropsychology, physiology, physiology, toxicology, neurophysiology and organic chemistry. In engineering disciplines, team members excel within the following fields: biomedical, chemical, aerospace, computer science, industrial, civil, mechanical, material science, metallurgy and electrical.