

Cambridge Disability Lawyers

Cambridge Disability Lawyers - Our Privacy Law Group helps clients in the development of efficient methods in order to deal with privacy problems which can impact business activities. Privacy law is complex and continually evolving. Our Privacy Law Team can assist organizations know privacy laws, examine their possible effect and implement measures in order to guarantee compliance.

Our Team, with representation across the country, has both the experience and resources to help businesses and organizations of whichever size and complexity to develop privacy strategies. In order to assist clients handle privacy law problems successfully, our lawyers draw on professionals in different fields of our firm, like litigation, employment, marketing, business, e-commerce and administration. Our integrated team has the experience and knowledge necessary to help clients in a broad range of industries, like for instance automotive, retail, insurance and health.

Our services to organizations comprises assisting them to understand the requirements of privacy laws; assess compliance requirements; design thorough audits of existing information practices; define a corporate privacy strategy; develop corporate and employee privacy polices; develop function-specific documents like for example Internet privacy policies; create procedures and systems to manage access to information; adopt and prepare practices and procedures that guarantee corporate compliance at each level; advise in cases of security or privacy breaches; respond to a regulatory review of privacy procedures; and help in developing records retention policies. A specific area of concern is over employee privacy. To help with employee privacy issues, we have developed policies and procedures in conjunction with our Employment and Labour Law Group.